

LINK.

Flood fears rise as wicked storm system tears across southern, central U.S.

Susan Miller, Doyle Rice and Thomas Novelty, USA TODAY | Published 8:30 a.m. ET Feb. 25, 2018 | Updated 10:23 a.m. ET Feb. 26, 2018

Floodwaters along the Ohio River are at their highest levels in two decades.

Know thy equations:

Real Victims = those displaced and suffering due to disastrous floods, tornadoes, hurricanes, fires, mud slides, earthquakes, wars, drought, civil emergency, violence, poverty, famine, pestilence, corruption, et. al.

Fake Victims = those unable to forgive for offenses suffered due to race, religion, ethnicity, upbringing, sexual persuasion, marital status, disability, intellect, politics, et. al.

Sent from the New Republic.