

A core belief of transcendentalism is in the inherent goodness of people and nature. Adherents believe that society and its institutions have corrupted the purity of the individual, and they have faith that people are at their best when truly "self-reliant" and independent.

"Confident that with YOUR help, man will be what he was born to be: free and independent."

"Does the individual have the courage to really go along with the TRUTH?"

"It is a crime for any citizen to shrink from controversy."

"When TRUTH represents an existential threat, then censorship is deployed."

"Those who make peaceful revolution impossible will make violent revolution inevitable."

John F. Kennedy.

#oathkeepers : Not on our watch!

.....starts with one person, one relationship, one family, one neighbor, one neighborhood, one village, one community, one city, one state, one nation, at a time...simultaneously.

"We can not dedicate, we can not consecrate, we can not hallow, this ground. The brave men, living and dead, who struggled here, have consecrated it, far above our poor power to add or detract.

The world will little note, nor long remember what we say here, but it can never forget what they did here.

It is for us the living, rather, to be dedicated here to the unfinished work which they who fought here have thus far so nobly advanced. It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us—that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to that cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion—that we here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain—that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom—and that government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth."
