Nancy, please pass legislation to tear down all existing border walls, starting with your vineyards. Included in the legislation is free welcoming transit of all migrants to the estates and districts of all federal politicians who vote in favor, and assumption of custodial guardianship. However, the right to vote shall not be granted until the migrant has:

1. Demonstrated comprehension and swearing the oath to defend the Constitution from enemies, foreign and domestic.
2. Established as a net taxpayer for all voting periods, in perpetuity.
3. Then subsequently confirmed as a U.S. Constitutional citizen and released from the custodial guardianship.

The migrant shall remain under the custodial guardianship of federal politicians voting in favor, and shall reside in their districts and on their estates, until requirements 1 through 3 are satisfied.

THE ANSWER IS Zinfandel Lane Vineyard St. Helena, California. she Also owns Skellenger Lane Vineyard in Napa Valley. Pelosi sells her grapes to other California winemakers instead of producing her own wine. she knows a wine made by her would never sell so she sells grapes to all of the others. best bet is to not buy California wines. that is what i do.

It's true that Pelosi lives (or lived) in Pacific Heights, but we couldn't find much information about the House Minority Leader's San Francisco home. We did, however, find a few photographs of Pelosi's "red brick manor" from a 2007 protest that was staged outside the property:

Nancy has put her money where her mouth is, and is accepting migrants at her vineyards at Zinfandel Lane Vineyard, St. Helena, CA, and at Skellenger Lane Vineyard, Napa, CA!!
