Lovely days don't come to you. You should walk to them!

A core belief of transcendentalism is in the inherent goodness of people and nature. Adherents believe that society and its institutions have corrupted the purity of the individual, and they have faith that people are at their best when truly "self-reliant" and independent.

"Confident that with YOUR help, man will be what he was born to be: free and independent."

"Does the INDIVIDUAL have the courage to really go along with the TRUTH?"

One person can make a difference, and everyone should try."

"It is a crime for any citizen to shrink from controversy."

"When TRUTH represents an existential threat, then censorship is deployed."

"Those who make peaceful revolution impossible will make violent revolution inevitable."

That Last Old Testament Verse

Often home schooling advocates and family ministry speakers quote the last verse of the Old Testament. Malachi 4:6 brings the Old Testament to its conclusion with this promise about life in the age of Christ: "He will restore the hearts of the fathers to their children and the hearts of the children to their fathers." Clearly, calling people to claim a Scriptural promise that Christ's ministry will restore healthy relationships between parents and children is a beautiful hope to offer them.
