

LINK.

'He feels really bad': Civil Def employee who sparked terror in Hawaii by accidentally triggering ballistic MISSILE warning will 'retrained' say officials after thousands fled to bomb shelters

- The alert was issued to residents' phones at 8.07am on Saturday
- It told them to seek shelter and warned of an 'inbound ballistic missile'
- It took 38 minutes for a second phone alert to be issued across the state
- By then, terrified residents had flocked to shelters and into schools
- Civil Defense employee accidentally hit alert, was unaware of the error
- An FCC investigation into the incident is underway, officials say

"Bones, why couldn't humans make Earth work for humanity??"

"Damn it Jim, I'm a doctor, not a forensic anthropologist!"

Sent from the New Republic.

Captain's Log: STAR DATE 2525